

Big Idea

A big idea is what you want your audience to remember long after you finish speaking. For example, let's say that you make a presentation on the history of photography. The next semester you see a former classmate from your class. What would you like him/her to remember about the information you presented.

Directions: Take a look at your research results. Write down what you think are the three most significant aspects of your topic. State each point in a single complete sentence.

Important Aspects

#1

#2

#3

Complete the following sentence, using your topic and three parts. Keep this sentence grammatically correct and as short as possible

By the end of my presentation, I want my audience to understand that
